Horizon Wealth Planning — the founder's brief

Claude Cowork for Digital Marketing · Day 1 · Use Claude Code

From Rachel Goh, founder and principal planner. October 2026.

We have helped 1,200+ Singapore families since 2010. Almost all new clients still come from referrals — and referrals are slowing. Younger people look for money help on LinkedIn, Facebook, YouTube and in their inbox, and we are invisible there.

My goal: 40 booked free chats a month by March 2027 (we book about 18 today), without hiring a marketing team.

What I have: three planners (Rachel Goh, Marcus Lee, Nur Aisyah), a part-time marketing executive (Jun Wei, about 12 hours a week), a marketing budget of S$4,000 a month, our website and our six services (services.csv). The last 12 months are in firm-metrics.csv.

What I need to know before I spend a dollar:

1. Who in Singapore looks for independent financial planning, on which channels, and why now?
2. What does our funnel say — how many more visitors and enquiries do 40 chats a month need?
3. Who are we up against — planning firms, robo-advisers, bank advisers, finfluencers — and what content do they publish?
4. What should we do first: which people, which channels, which themes?

My rules: no hard sell, no jargon, nothing that sounds like a guaranteed return. We are regulated, and our reputation is everything.
